

2011 US Open

Although the 2010 U.S. Open Championship is just in the books, it's not too early to be thinking about 2011 because the U.S. Open is returning to Congressional Country Club on June 13-19, 2011.

The U.S. Open has a great history at Congressional. The Bethesda, Maryland course has hosted five previous USGA championships. This includes the memorable 1964 U.S. Open, won by Ken Venturi, and most recently the 1997 U.S. Open, won by Ernie Els.

The U.S. Open has sold out the past 24 years and we're sure next year at Congressional will be no different. Ticket options range from the exclusive 1895 Club tickets at $250 a pop to the $50 general admission tickets which are awarded in a random drawing.

So check out <https://members.usga.org/tickets/2011randomdrawing> for ticket ordering options now.

Golf Report from Alaska by M. Zepp

I just recently returned from an Alaskan cruise & land tour. And, I had a chance to play the farthest golf course north... Fairbanks Golf & Country Club.

We had a tee time at 6:13 pm on May 29, 2010. The sun doesn't set till 12:30 am and then it's still light. The evening was warm with the temp around 74 degrees. Fairbanks is a small old rustic course with a personality all its own. I was surprised to find it flat and I mean flat - no hills, valleys or blind shots around bends. The course is tree lined but didn't interfere with my wild tee shots. I got lots of roll because of the lack of rain... it was quite dry and dusty. This was a fun course to play and I recommend it to any one going north. Beer and Bears are available on course!

Waggle Best Ball at Lee's Hill

Our first 2-Person Best Ball of the year is in the books and the winners were Paula Harris and Blake Hollis. Paula and Blake easily took home the honors firing a team 71 at Lee's Hill in Fredericksburg, VA.

Despite a brief rain delay - it was a good day on the course and Lee's Hill was in nice shape. The team scores ranged from 71 to 94 and a good time was had by all!

For those of you unfamiliar with our 2-Person Best Balls... these are FUN events, with no pressure, you get to play a course at a slight discount, and everyone gets a prize.

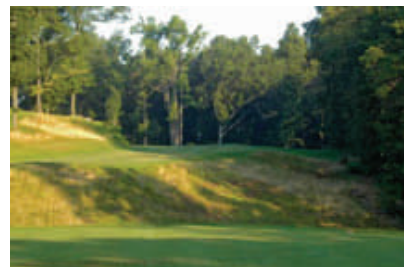

Our next event will be Sunday July 25th at Maryland National. Sign up at the Waggle Pro Shop.

Iron Valley Report from Lefty

Another beautiful June day found me traveling into Pennsylvania to play Iron Valley Golf Club in Cornwall (near Lebanon) PA. My brother had played there several times and recommended we come give it a look and who am I to disagree with my brother?

This course is a hidden gem! Hole #1 is docile looking – unless you hit it too far left. If you do – you will have lost your ball but have the chance to have a beautiful view of the valley. I put this course in the “you want to play it again” category! The conditions were resort like and the course was very challenging but fair.

I started off big with 7 straight pars, but alas the tricky(?) uphill par 3 #8 (see picture) managed to get a tree in the way of my tee shot and it was downhill from there! Actually it wasn't so bad but errant shots are punished and good ones rewarded on this fine track. The back nine is a little more challenging than the front (in the opinion of my brother) but this is one great course! The clubhouse is nice and inviting for a sit-down-after-round post golf discussion...if you know what I mean! I will definitely be back to Iron Valley – it's worth the 1 ½ hour ride from the Baltimore area.
